Glendale, AZ, March 19, 2019 — There's more than one way to make a living in the music business and with 30 plus years of experience, local indie record label Fervor Records has some proven strategies for doing just that. Join Fervor's management team and industry experts from across the country for Music Business Summit 2019 Saturday, April 6, from 10:00 am to 4:00 pm at the Glendale Main Library, 5959 W. Brown St. This free event does require a reservation, to reserve a spot visit fervormusicbizsummit.com.

Featuring a consortium of experts who have risen through the ranks, experienced trials and errors, and worked with top players in the field, the summit gives participants a unique opportunity to learn from the best.

The summit is designed to arm musicians and anyone interested in a career in music (from public relations to producing records) with the knowledge required to make it in today's industry. Participants will learn about management, marketing and promotion, how to get music placed in film and on TV, and more.

"Education is powerful; the more musicians, songwriters, producers and engineers who know about the business, the more successful the community as a whole becomes," said Fervor Records founder Dave Hilker.

Panelists include: DC Parmet (Elton John), Music Supervisors Greg Sweeny and Toddrick Spalding (Mob Scene), as well as Malia Hall (Mothlight Music) and Mike Turner (Mike Turner Media), Entertainment Attorney Ben McLane, and Publishing Executive Gareth Smith (Sub Pop Records).
