FRANK Talk: A Free Press - Cornerstone of Democracy. The first amendment to the U.S. Constitution protects press freedom. Freedom of the press is important because it plays a vital role in informing citizens about public affairs and monitoring the actions of government. What happens when public trust in the media is eroded by sensationalism, foreign influences or bots, fake news, and business monopolies? Who makes the news and what is newsworthy? Is non-partisan news coverage based on facts even still possible? What is the role of the media in keeping us informed today, and who is accountable when intentional misrepresentation occurs? Join us for a critical look at the impact of the media in a democratic society. This FRANK Talk is facilitated by Gail Rhodes of ASU and produced in partnership with Arizona Humanities and the Arizona State Library, Archives & Public Records. Monday, October 17, 6:30-8 PM. Roadrunner Room.
